INSTRUCTION

- This 14 days adventuring holiday takes in the best of 3 of Indochina's most exciting countries (excluding Laos and Myanmar). Setting-off this bicycle tour from Bangkok, you'll stop at Thailand's idyllic beaches, see the astonishing pagoda of Cambodia and discovering Mekong Delta in Vietnam by bike and boat, taking in floating markets and traditional countryside villages as you ride towards Ho Chi Minh City in Vietnam.

- In this Indochina biking trip 14 days will be joint in a small group size (min: 2 - max: 10 people) and there will be an experienced English-speaking local guide who will really help you make the most of this tour. Suitable for regular cyclists, the longest day of this tour is 75km and the terrain is mostly flat, with a few hills in Thailand and rough tracks along the way between Cambodia and Mekong Delta Vietnam. The comfortable air-conditioned support vehicle is almost always on hand if you need a break along the parallel mainroad with your cycling backroads with our local expert guiding team. Experience the heart of this region, with numerous cultural and historical sites including Angkor Wat, Phnom Penh and Khao Yai National Park. Try distinctive cuisines with fresh seafood, vegetables and more, and experience the variation between local villagers and the energy of Asia's vibrant cities.

- As an optional pre-tour extension, why not arrive early to spend two extra nights in Bangkok. Taking an exhilarating guided ride through the night markets and temples on day one, then a tour of the backstreets and waterways by canal boat and bike on day two. On the third morning, you'll be collected from your 4* city centre hotel to join the biking loops to the urban Kanchanaburi which is famous for Khao Yai National Park and natural waterfall Haew Narok.

DAY 2: BANGKOK - SRI NARKON - BANGKOK (B, L)

☼ Greetings for our first challenging day in Bangkok and take a short hop across the Chao Phraya River to an extraordinary place known to locals as Bang Kra Jao. Crossing the river is like taking a journey back in time where we find a peaceful place with a maze of waterways, small villages, temples and real tropical jungle. If it wasn't for Bangkok's skyline, you would never believe you were so close to the city and there is no traffic!

DAY 5: POIPET - SILK FARM AT POURK - SIEM REAP (B, L)

Fully resting morning with breakfast and short transfer within 15 minutes to the Poipet International border. After completing the Cambodia visa formalities we say farewell to our Thailand main support team and meet our hosts for the rest of the trip. The drive will take us about 4 hours to get to Siem Reap, the gateway town for the incredible Khmer temples of Angkor. On the way, we will stop to visit the silk farm at Pourk to see the process of silk making from start to finish.

On arrival in Siem Reap, we will check into our hotel and have time to visit the temple of Bayon and the South Gate of Angkor Thom by bus for sunset. This evening will have a new welcome dinner with our new ventured support team and free to explore the famous city of Wonder City. No cycling today !

DAY 7: BEANTEY SREI & FLOATING VILLAGE - TONLE SAP - SIEM REAP (B, L)

Today we will leave the crowds behind on a cycle ride to the small village of Rolous where we visit the temples, before continuing to a local market. After a rest and time to explore the stalls we take a boat to the floating village of Kompong Phluk. Our ride through rural Cambodia offers plenty of opportunities to once more connect with local people. The fascinating village of Kompong Phluk is built on stilts in Tonle Sap Lake. Its residents live a communal lifestyle and you will see everything from floating pig pens to young children paddling around in what looks like a bowl selling souvenirs and singing songs.

After our boat trip we enjoy a home hosted lunch where we can ask questions and learn about local cuisine as well as everyday life. In the afternoon we take our bus to visit Banteay Srey, where we collect our bikes again and cycle 25 kilometers to either East Mebon to enjoy watching the sunset,
